Theatre Lighting New Distributor for Elation in Switzerland

Elation is pleased to announce that Theatre Lighting GmbH has been appointed the new distributor for Elation products in Switzerland, effective May 1, 2025. The partnership also encompasses products in Elation's Magmatic line of atmospheric effects.

While the official start date for the distributorship is set for May 1, the Theatre Lighting team is already stepping in to support customers throughout April. This early involvement – despite some final preparations for the distribution takeover still being underway – reflects their strong commitment and flexibility. As with any transition, there may be minor initial challenges, but the proactive approach ensures that customer needs remain the top priority from day one.
